The Daily Courant.

Saturday, August 28. 1714.

London, August 28.

Yesterday arrived the Mail due from Holland.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Sept. 4. Basil, August 26.

WE are told by Letters from Leghorne of the 15th, that the Barceloners having sprung a Mine in which were 100 Barrils of Powder, blew up 3000 French which were in a Work that they had taken. 'Tis advised from Lions, that the 13th at Day-break the French and Spaniards made a general Assault on Barcelona, and lodged themselves on the Breach: But the 14th at Night the Besieged made a Sally, and attacked the Besiegers with so great Fury, on the Right and Left, that 3 or 4000 of them were killed on the Spot, besides the wounded and Prisoners taken, whose Number was not yet known. This ill Success had very much discouraged the Generals and Troops, the more because the Besieged have made Couppures and Intrenchments behind the Breach, and furnished them with a great Number of Artillery.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Sept. 4, &c.

Vienna, Aug. 22. Yesterday arrived at Court an Express from the Hague, dispatched by Baron Heems, with the News of the Death of the Queen of Great-Britain, and of the proclaiming of King George. An Express arrived likewise from Baden, with an Account that the Conferences about Peace were finished there. Another Courier who arrived to Day from Italy, reports, that the Barceloners continue to defend themselves with great Vigour, and are determined to be buried under the Ruines of their City, rather than lose their Liberties. 'Tis said Prince Eugene will set out from hence for Baden the End of next Week; though some think the News from England may occasion some longer Delay of his Journey. We have nothing certain concerning the King of Sweden's Departure yet.

Dresden, Aug. 25. Some Advices from Transylvania tell us, that the King of Sweden staid only for a Sum of Money, (which the King of France is to remit to him, either on a Mortgage or Alienation of the Dutchy of Deux-ponts,) to begin his Journey for his own Dominions through those of the Emperour.

Hambourg, Aug. 28. M. Bestougeff, a Russian, and Gentleman to the Elector of Brunswick now King of Great-Britain, has passed through this Place in his Way to the Czar, with Letters from his Majesty notifying his Accession to the Crown of Great-Britain &c. This Gentleman is said to be ordered to assure the Czar, that his Britannick Majesty will not be wanting in any thing that may contribute to the augmenting of Friendship and good Harmony between them. The Syndick Sylm and the Counsellor Stokfeth set out from hence the 22d for Hanover, to compliment the King on the Part of our Magistracy.

From the Hague Courant, dated Sept. 5, &c.

Hague, Sept. 4. The British Men of War which were on the French Coast to look into the Harbours, are come into the Maese and have joyned the Squadron under the Earl of Berkeley. The Earl of Clarendon is arrived from Hanover at Amsterdam: Baron Schutz, late Minister of Brunswick at London, is come hither. Yesterday part of the King of Great-Britain's Baggage arrived here at the Old Court. This Morning the Earl of Strafford received an Express, who came from Hanover last Saturday in the Afternoon.

Hague, Sept. 4. Letters from Hanover say the King would set out Yesterday or to Day. The States had sent Orders to all their Towns through which His Majesty comes, for the Burghers to appear in Arms and line the Streets, as was done when the present Emperour went through Holland as King of Spain; but his Majesty has declined being received with such Ceremony, desiring to pass through the Country as much incognito as is possible. The Apartments of the Old Court where his Majesty is to lodge while he is here, are hung with Black.
